MACH Energy Response to NSW Court of Appeal Decision
Update 8th September 2025

MACH Energy has carefully reviewed the recent judgement of the NSW Court of Appeal regarding the IPC's approval of the Mount Pleasant Optimisation project's state significant development application in 2022. Based on that review, we have lodged an application for special leave to appeal to the High Court. As a result of this appeal, the NSW Land and Environment Court has suspended the remitter process for this case until after the High Court application for special leave has been determined. MACH Energy will continue to operate in alignment with existing approvals and conditions, and will explore all options to provide long-term continuity and certainty for its staff, contractors, customers, and the local community.
